Popular Dog Treat Seriously Hurts – Sometimes Even Kills – America's Dogs

Every day thousands of dog owners around the country are putting their dogs' health and lives in danger without realizing it. And they're doing it by feeding them bones!

“When you give your dog certain kinds of cooked bones you are basically handing him a loaded gun and letting him play 'Russian Roulette,’” says Ben Settle, a respected authority on dogs and the author of, “Why You Should Never Give Your Dog A Bone.” He adds, “Not only can your dog choke on these bones...but they can splinter and become like little 'daggers' that puncture your dog's throat, stomach, and intestinal tract.”

In addition to explaining the difference between safe bones and unsafe bones, Ben will show your audience at least 5 other little-known dangers to their dogs including:

- ◆ Why your kitchen sink is the single most dangerous place in your house for your dog.
- ◆ Two reasons why you should never let your dog chew on a tennis ball.
- ◆ The one place on your property you must never let your dog touch, sniff or lick.
- ◆ When eating good, healthy dog food can actually make your dog sick.
- ◆ How to protect your dog from deadly (but common) plants in your yard and home.
